*If your child is eligible for special education services, Oregon law requires us to notify your resident school district. The district will then send you an annual notice confirming that it stands ready to provide a Free Appropriate Public Education (FAPE) should you choose to re-enroll. While homeschooling, you may: 1) Decline all public special education services 2) Request an IEP meeting to explore whether special education and related services that constitute a FAPE can be provided in conjunction with your homeschool program, 3) Request an evaluation or re-evaluation at any time under the district's Child Find responsibilities. If you do not receive services through an IEP, you may choose to use a Privately Developed Plan (PDP) to document your child's educational goals and progress in place of standard homeschool testing requirements. Please contact us if you have any questions about these options or would like additional information.

The Lane Education Service District by policy releases "directory information" to the public upon request. Federal law requires education service districts to provide, upon request by a military recruiter or institution of higher education, access to names, addresses, and telephone listings of secondary students. If you do not want your student's information released, please complete the attached form. Failure to submit this completed form may result in the release of the above-mentioned information regarding your student. When enrolling online, simply select "do not share this information outside the school district."

Please indicate your relationship to the student(s) listed above:
